HAMMOND'S GREAT INNINGS.

SECOND HIGHEST TEST SCORE.

BAD LUCK TO PLAY ON AFTER MAKING 251.

ENGLAND'S BIG LEAD.

With three wickets still to fall, England at lunch-time to-day had gained a lead of 266 runs on the first innings, one short of a hundred runs having been added to the over-night total, while the team was only two runs short of the 621 scored in the First Test match.

The position brings into prospect the possibility of a record Test score, since England require only 82 runs to exceed the 600 put up by Australia at Melbourne in 1924-25. England's previous 'highest' score was compiled in 1911-12 by J.W.H.T. Douglas' team also at Melbourne, when 589 runs were scored.

Just over 5,000 spectators were on the ground when the not outs (Hammond, 201 and Larwood, 37) went out to resume England's innings this morning in fine weather, with the wicket still playing fast.

Larwood Caught.

Larwood did not long survive the Australian attack, putting up a catch into Ryder's safe hands after scoring six additional runs. His 43 were made by carefree hitting, and his partnership with Hammond added 11 runs to the total.

Hammond, by glorious hitting to the off, soon beat W. L. Murdoch's 211 at the Oval in 1884, and thus secured the honour of scoring the second highest individual score in the Anglo-Australian Test matches.

Hammond's Bad Luck.

He was battling freely and looked well set for surpassing Foster's record score of 287, when he had the misfortune to play on to his ironmonger.

His great innings came to an end after he had scored 251 runs out of 459 runs compiled while he was at the wickets. He batted for seven hours and 35 minutes giving only one chance—to Ryder when 148. His innings was superb in every respect and he sent the ball to the boundary thirty times. His wicket fell when the board showed 496 runs.

He had been joined by Geary, who played very cautiously and scored extremely slowly.

The men in at lunch-time were Grey and Tate. The latter who had replaced Hammond scored rapidly and had overtaken his partner when the interval was reached.

NORWEGIAN STEAMER AGROUND.

WITH HONGKONG CARGO ABOARD.

News has been received in the Colony by mail to the effect that the Norwegian steamer Bessa, for whom Messrs. Thoresen and Co. are local agents, went aground off Lisbon on November 19th, water coming into the No. 1 and No. 2 holds.

The Bessa was carrying cargo for Hongkong and other Far Eastern ports, and so far no news has been received of her having been refloated.

INDIAN SWARAJIST OUTRAGE.

EUROPEAN A.S.P., LAHORE SHOT DEAD.

MURDERS IN STREET.

Lahore, Dec. 17. A terrible outrage perpetrated, it is believed, by youthful fanatics, occurred in the streets of Lahore to-day. Mr. Saunders, the Assistant Superintendent of Police, being shot dead, while an Indian police clerk who gave chase to the assassins was also killed.

The affair has created a great sensation.

Mr. Saunders was cycling home from his office when shots rang out, and he was seen to fall dead. Two youths armed with revolvers were immediately chased, and one of the men engaged in the pursuit was also shot down.

The assailants made good their escape on motor-cycles, but a vigorous Police search is now being made.

The crime is believed to be an act of revenge for the death of Lajpat Rai, the Nationalist leader, who the Swarajists allege died as the result of a blow received

ELECTION & IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

POSTPONEMENT RUMOURS IN THE AIR.

London, Dec. 17. In view of the fact that the General Election will take place some time during next year, statements have been current that the Imperial Conference, which ordinarily would be held in 1929 might be postponed till 1930.

Questioned on this quarter in the House of Commons to-day, Lt.-Col. Amery, the Secretary for the Dominions, said he was unable to state at the moment whether the Conference would be postponed, adding that the date had not yet been fixed. The date must, of course, be suitable to all the Governments concerned.—Reuter and British Wireless.

Pope's Anxiety.

Efforts are being made on all hands to find a peaceful settlement of the dispute, the Pope and King Alfonso being among those who have offered to assist, while Mr. Kellogg is doing his utmost to settle the quarrel and to restore peace.

It is reported from Washington according to the Tribune, the Pope has summoned to Rome, Monsieur Chiribin, the new Papal Nuncio to La Paz, with a view to urging Bolivia to agree to a peaceful solution of the quarrel.

"Mother Country."

Madrid is also actively interested in the war threat and General Primo de Rivera has announced that Spain as the "mother of both countries and the spiritual head of the peoples of the Spanish race" has approached the Bolivian and Paraguayan Governments in the interests of a peaceful settlement.

The Presidents of both countries have replied to the Spanish Government expressing profound thanks.—Reuter.

SOUTH AMERICAN WAR FEARS.

EIGHT HOUR BATTLE ON FRONTIER.

OFFICERS AND MEN KILLED ON BOTH SIDES.

MANY PEACE MOVES.

Buenos Aires, Dec. 17.

Hostilities between Bolivia and Paraguayan outposts continue, and according to a message from Asuncion, the Paraguayan cavalry have recaptured a small fort after eight hours of fighting.

Two Bolivian officers and a number of men were killed, while the cavalry corps lost one officer and eleven troopers killed, and many wounded. The Bolivians also suffered many non-fatal casualties.

This news, together with the fact that a Bolivian aeroplane dropped bombs over Bahia Negra, and the decree ordering the mobilisation of all men in Paraguay between 18 and 29, had led to the opinion being generally expressed that war is inevitable.

Paris Conference.

Sir Eric Drummond, the Secretary-General of the League of Nations, accompanied by the Director of the Political Section, Mr. Sugimura, is leaving for Paris this evening to confer with M. Briand regarding measures to be taken in view of the Bolivia-Paraguay dispute.

In the course of questions in the British Parliament regarding the war in South America, Sir N. Grattan Doyle asked if the League of Nations had any jurisdiction whatever in any part of America in view of the provisions of the Monroe Doctrine.

Sir Austen Chamberlain replied in the affirmative, pointing out that there were many clauses in the League Covenant which enjoined upon the Council the duty of offering its friendly offices to all States.

Sir Austen said he did not think that the action taken by the Council could be thought in any quarter to raise, or challenge for a moment, the question of the Monroe Doctrine.

Sir Austen deplored further questions by Sir N. Grattan Doyle and added that he was certain that nothing that the League could do could in any way offend the United States.

Seeking Peaceful Way Out.

Efforts are being made on all hands to find a peaceful settlement of the dispute, the Pope and King Alfonso being among those who have offered to assist, while Mr. Kellogg is doing his utmost to settle the quarrel and to restore peace.

JAPAN'S ACTIONS IN SHANTUNG.

INTERMENT OF CHINESE ROLLING STOCK.

BRITISH VIEWPOINT.

London, Dec. 17. The detention of rolling-stock by the Japanese authorities in occupation in Shantung, and the interference with trade thereby occasioned, were the subject of questions in the House of Commons to-day.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, who returned yesterday from Lugano, stated that His Majesty's Government had made no representations to Japan with regard to the rolling stock in question, which belongs to the Tientsin-Pukow Railway, and has been interned between Tsinan and the broken bridge on the Yellow River.

The British Government did not propose to make any representations since the material in question was the property of a Chinese State railway and British Interests were only indirectly concerned.

He was quite sure that the Japanese authorities had no desire to hamper international trade carried on over the Tientsin-Pukow Railway, and that this rolling-stock would be put into circulation as soon as practical considerations make this possible.—Reuter.

Dental Explained.

Regarding Mr. T. V. Soong's recent emphatic denial of the Nishihara Loan, it is said that in rumour he had recognized the reality that term "Nishihara Loan" was not mentioned in the secret agreement, but that the phrase used was "all unsecured loans," these naturally including the Nishihara Loan.

It is further alleged that the agreement provides that at the end of 1929 China will, from the new Customs revenues, repay $6,000,000 as the first instalment towards the redemption of the Japanese loans in question, and thereafter, at the end of every year, the amount will be increased by one million dollars until the full amount has been repaid.

Another report says that the bondholders of these unsecured loans are holding a meeting in Japan shortly to consider the distribution of the first instalment of $6,000,000, which they expect to obtain from China next year.

Public Indignation.

Public feeling in Shanghai, Peking and Nanking is said to be running high in connexion with these rumours, and it

THE GOLF CLUB MEETING.

MR. L. S. GREENHILL ELECTED CAPTAIN.

INTERESTING REVIEW.

A very interesting and comprehensive review of the year's activities of the Royal Hongkong Golf Club was given by the Captain, the Hon. Mr. E. R. Halifax, at the annual general meeting held in the Board Room of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Co., Ltd., yesterday evening.

The Chairman was supported by the following members of the Committee: Mr. L. S. Greenhill, Mr. J. W. Franks, Mr. L. G. S. Dowdell, Mr. C. D. Lambert, Mr. K. S. Morrison, Mr. J. D. Kinnaird, Mr. C. L. Sandes and Mr. A. B. Stewart, and Lt.-Col. E. D. Matthews (Secretary) and Mr. B. O. Blaker.

The Chairman said in part: Concerning improvements to the courses and the Club houses I will begin with the Happy Valley, about which there is little to say. The Committee have not lost sight of Happy Valley and during the year considered an offer for purchasing the disused Garrison pavilion and for re-establishing there our Club house. Careful examination of the circumstances, however, decided us that this was not in the best interests of the Club and that it was wiser to wait until the nullah works were completed and until it might be possible to re-erect a new Club house somewhere about the old site in one or other of the cheaper forms of building that are possible to-day, and which would be, it was thought, entirely suitable for the purpose. That question remains over for the consideration of future Committees. The course itself has given great satisfaction.

Fanling.

The popularity of Fanling continues unabated as a glance at the lodgings account alone shows. The standard of the domestic arrangements and of the food has been well maintained under Mrs. Kerr and it is hardly possible that any member who has been to Fanling can fail to notice the greatly improved condition of the course and the Greens as a whole. Great credit is due to Mr. Kerr and his staff for this excellent result, but they, in their turn, have no doubt to thank the top-dressing that was so successfully undertaken at the beginning of the year, and the use of the motor mowers and rollers which have now entirely superseded our old herd of cattle. This top-dressing deserves to be kept prominently in mind by every succeeding Committee, and we, as the outgoing committee, would like to emphasize the necessity of getting as much work in this direction as can properly be afforded done annually, as one of the first calls on the Club's finances.

A Waiting List.

One matter that stands out very prominently in connexion with the new Course is the extra ground which the Committee have taken the responsibility of acquiring with a view to including it in the second half of that course and so extending the whole links as to make it comparable in length at least with the old course. This scheme will make it possible to accommodate a considerable extra number of players, and at the same time it is proposed to leave the present 13th and 14th holes, of the second half of the new course open for practice and a turf nursery. There can be little doubt that the practice ground will be appreciated and it will provide still further accommodation. A full length new course will enable us to meet one of the difficulties that the Club will surely have to face in the near future and that is the question of a Waiting List. We have been on the edge of that question for some years but happily the position does not seem to get very seriously worse year by year, though admittedly it does get worse. We are overcrowded on the old course on busy days but it is not impossible to believe that we are now approaching a point of saturation, that is, we may have absorbed practically all those in the Colony who may be eligible as members of the Club.

Exclusion from Old Course.

If we construct the new course in such a way that it provides a good day's golf and loses the character which the second nine holes have been inclined to give it of something of a toy course, it may be possible to make a waiting list in the form of exclusion only from the old course on busy days. The suggestion and the details and the working of it will be for following Committees to elaborate, but I would like your permission to emphasise one point, and that is that the Royal Hongkong Golf Club stands in a rather unusually responsible position whether near saturation yet, or not, we have undoubtedly absorbed so many of the eligible members in the Colony that it can safely be said that there are not enough left to combine for the formation of a second Club. Candidates for membership are not in the position in which they are elsewhere, of being able to pay a small railway fare for golf at "X" if they cannot get it at "Y," and golf having become the standard form of recreation for Sundays and holidays, this may easily mean that we leave a number of candidates at something of a loose end on those days if they cannot join us. Our object therefore should be to have no waiting list of the nature which means "you must not play at all on certain days."

Four-ball Delay.

Before I leave this question of the accommodation at Fanling for players the Committee wish to draw attention to one matter in which players themselves as a whole can improve existing conditions without any lessening of their enjoyment. Four balls have no doubt come to stay and must be catered for, but the fact that the four-ball match is essentially a team game in which the individual score matters not at all is so often lost sight of. It is only too common to see players in such a match laboriously struggling along, strokes and strokes behind, when the hole has long been lost, to the great disadvantage of all other players on the course. Further when a ball is put into the rough it is not uncommon to see even all the other three players and all their caddies looking for it. A lost ball in a four-ball match should be the funeral of the individual player alone, the business of all being to keep the pace of the green in the general interest of the Club. If simple points of this nature and the real character of the four-ball game were borne in mind it would hardly be possible for us to have the state of things about which so many complaints are now made, that of a Sunday afternoon it can take as much as 3½ hours for a single round. Very much in matter of this nature depends on the conscience of the players, but we understand that at Singapore and elsewhere certain aids to conscience are provided in the shape of notices posted conspicuously saying that when two strokes behind the other side you should pick up your ball, that you should not put out when a hole cannot possibly be won, and so on. We are in communication with Singapore on this matter and are waiting for their experience, but I hope it is possible for us to show a "must" needed improvement with no more than this reminder. Individual card and pencil of course have no right even to be seen in connexion with the four-ball.

Starting Time Experiment.

While on this subject, it becomes desirable to remove a certain apprehension that has arisen in connexion with a circular sent round with this month's bills. The four-ball being the accepted recognised form of game for Sunday and holiday afternoons, it seemed to the Committee not unreasonable to allow the two single matches which were to constitute the afternoon's four-ball game, to draw consecutive times for the morning singles. If the Secretary is notified in time, the four games will be put together into the hat to draw two starting times together; and there will be no better chance of a good time being drawn than in any other case. In fact, there are obvious objections to the scheme from the players' point of view: for if a bad time is drawn four people suffer in place of two only. But their four-ball becomes easy to arrange; and the experiment is being tried for the many who take more interest in the afternoon four-ball than in the morning single. It will be very soon evident whether the plan is or is not welcomed by members; and the Committee can discontinue it at any time. I gather that there are no yet no objections to the scheme itself: the criticisms occasioned by the circular are due rather to the unfortunate use of the word "allotted." Times will not be allotted in any other than the usual way of drawing from the hat; only as explained two singles will be drawn together.

the importance of the points I have made as to increased recurrent expenditure for passages and leave, and realise also that we have not yet reached the limits of the improvements we can make and hope to make in our golfing facilities, they will I think be prepared to continue the extra subscription of $2 which was originally instituted as a war mat-

will be seen that a reduction of the subscription from $7 to $5 will mean at once that we must draw in our horns and that we cannot continue even on the present scale. Any thought of building a new and expensive Club house at Fanling which many members are anxious to see would have definitely to be abandoned for the time. The Committee is all in sympathy with the Club house idea, but want to see all possible arrangements for gold

WOMAN'S WORLD FOR OUR LADY READERS.

Becoming Frocks.

DANCING DRESS DETAILS.

In theory it should be almost impossible to choose an unbecoming dancing frock at the moment.

Nearly all the evening dresses which have been produced within the last few months suggest a capacity for graceful motion, even when you see them in repose.

There are, as there should be, a few exceptions.

There are dresses which are intended to be worn by women to whom dancing does not appeal; or to whom advanced maturity suggests less energetic evening occupations.

Actually, however, although the majority of evening dresses dance remarkably well, when reasonably well worn, quite a number of women persist in choosing lines which do not agree with their individual types and habits of movement.

Depends on the Partner.

The success or failure of a dancing dress admittedly does not depend entirely on the taste of the women who wears it.

The height of the man she is dancing with as compared with her own, his dancing skill, and particularly the way he holds his partner, have an extraordinary influence on the general effect she produces.

Those who wish to see the truth of this assertion for themselves can easily do so by using their eyes instead of their feet during a single dance wherever it may be. Having satisfied themselves in this way, women should be all the more careful to leave as little as possible to the chance of an unbecoming partner.

Be Your Type.

One of the most dangerous lines is the tightly swathed hip drapery. This remains bearable in almost all circumstances on the exceedingly slender and well-proportioned woman, and it is often very lovely in repose. But on the woman of any age who is not so slender, it is frequently disastrous. One should also remember that its obviously Eastern origin is not always in perfect accord with the average English expression.

"Be your type!" is an admonition which the well-dressed woman never forgets.

Another line which should be carefully considered just now is the graduated waistline, fairly high in front and fairly low at the back. In itself this is a line which can work marvels for the indifferent

The Paradise Ensemble.

A SCINTILLATING

Bird of Paradise struts its crystal and diamante chic across the shimmering beauty of the white satin gown of this new evening ensemble.

Black-white, with a touch of apple green chiffon in the facing of the long back panel, this frock is exquisitely individual.

The crepe satin gown hugs the figure snugly and has a unique method of achieving its longer back silhouette by a modernistic step-down panel. The sharply pointed V neckline is new, too.

The black velvet coat, with its white fox collar, is white lined, with the crepe satin fashioning the turned-back cuffs. A smart little turban of white satin, encrusted with crystals and diamante completes this lovely ensemble.

HOW TO CLEAN THEM.

Artificial flowers are so beautifully made now that they are very effective while they are fresh, but unfortunately they pick up the dust rather easily, and owing to the delicate fashioning of both leaves and petals, one is rather at loss sometimes to know how to clean them without damaging them in any way.

A very good method is to get a good-sized camel's hair brush and use this to brush each petal with, for the brush being soft and light, it can get right into the tiny crevices. It is almost impossible to do this in any other way without breaking them.

Flowers done with a brush like this every week will keep delightfully fresh looking, and also last quite a long time.

figure, and enhance the figure that is naturally good; but if it has not been carefully handled and placed, it dances atrociously.

The reason for this is easily understood.

Many modern dancing steps are noticeably long; and if the waistline of a frock is too low at the back for the build of its wearer, she looks, when she is taking a long step, as if her legs were not nearly long enough.

A full-length mirror and a capacity for facing the facts about one's figure are therefore extremely important if the dresses in which one proposes to dance are to be all that they should be.

Fashion Notes.

BRIGHTNESS IN CLOTHES.

Most people hate heavy trimmings, fussy draperies, solemn, important, and portentous clothes. They affect the mind as unpleasantly as dull reading, and make the body feel as if it had been fed on puddings for a year.

Such clothes are not seen much nowadays, but nevertheless some people do make clothes err on the side of dullness. If a designer is of a dull mood or has no sense of humour, the clothes he or she makes reflect his or her mood.

In a contrary sense, this theory works happily, and most of the new Paris clothes are just the reverse of dull. They are young, simple, bright, amazingly well-bred and well-mannered. They smile at you, they really do, and, no matter what your age, you feel you would like to have some of them just to put on for your own pleasure.

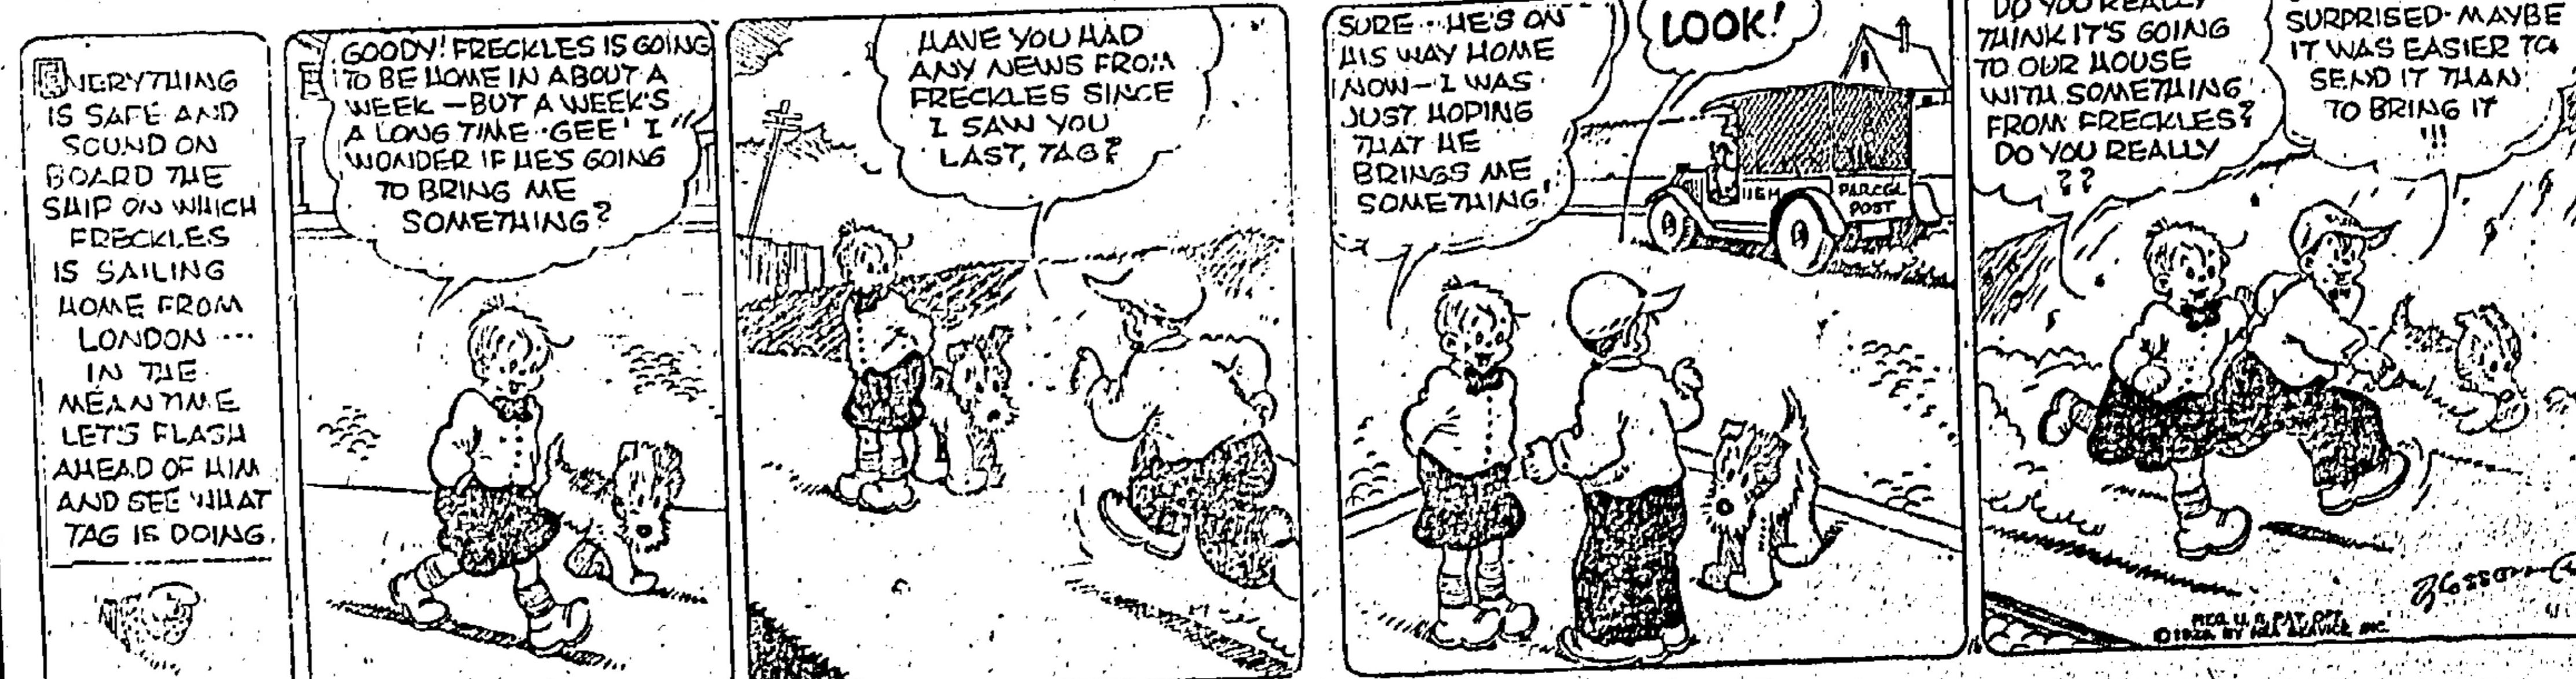

Simple Evening Wear.

A novelty is a little printed mouseline-de-sole frock for simple evening wear. "V" shaped in the neck, not very low, no sleeves, straight bodices, closely draped hips, floating panels, skirts over the knee—they are the brightest little frocks imaginable. And as a matter of fact, they are taking like the traditional "hot cakes."

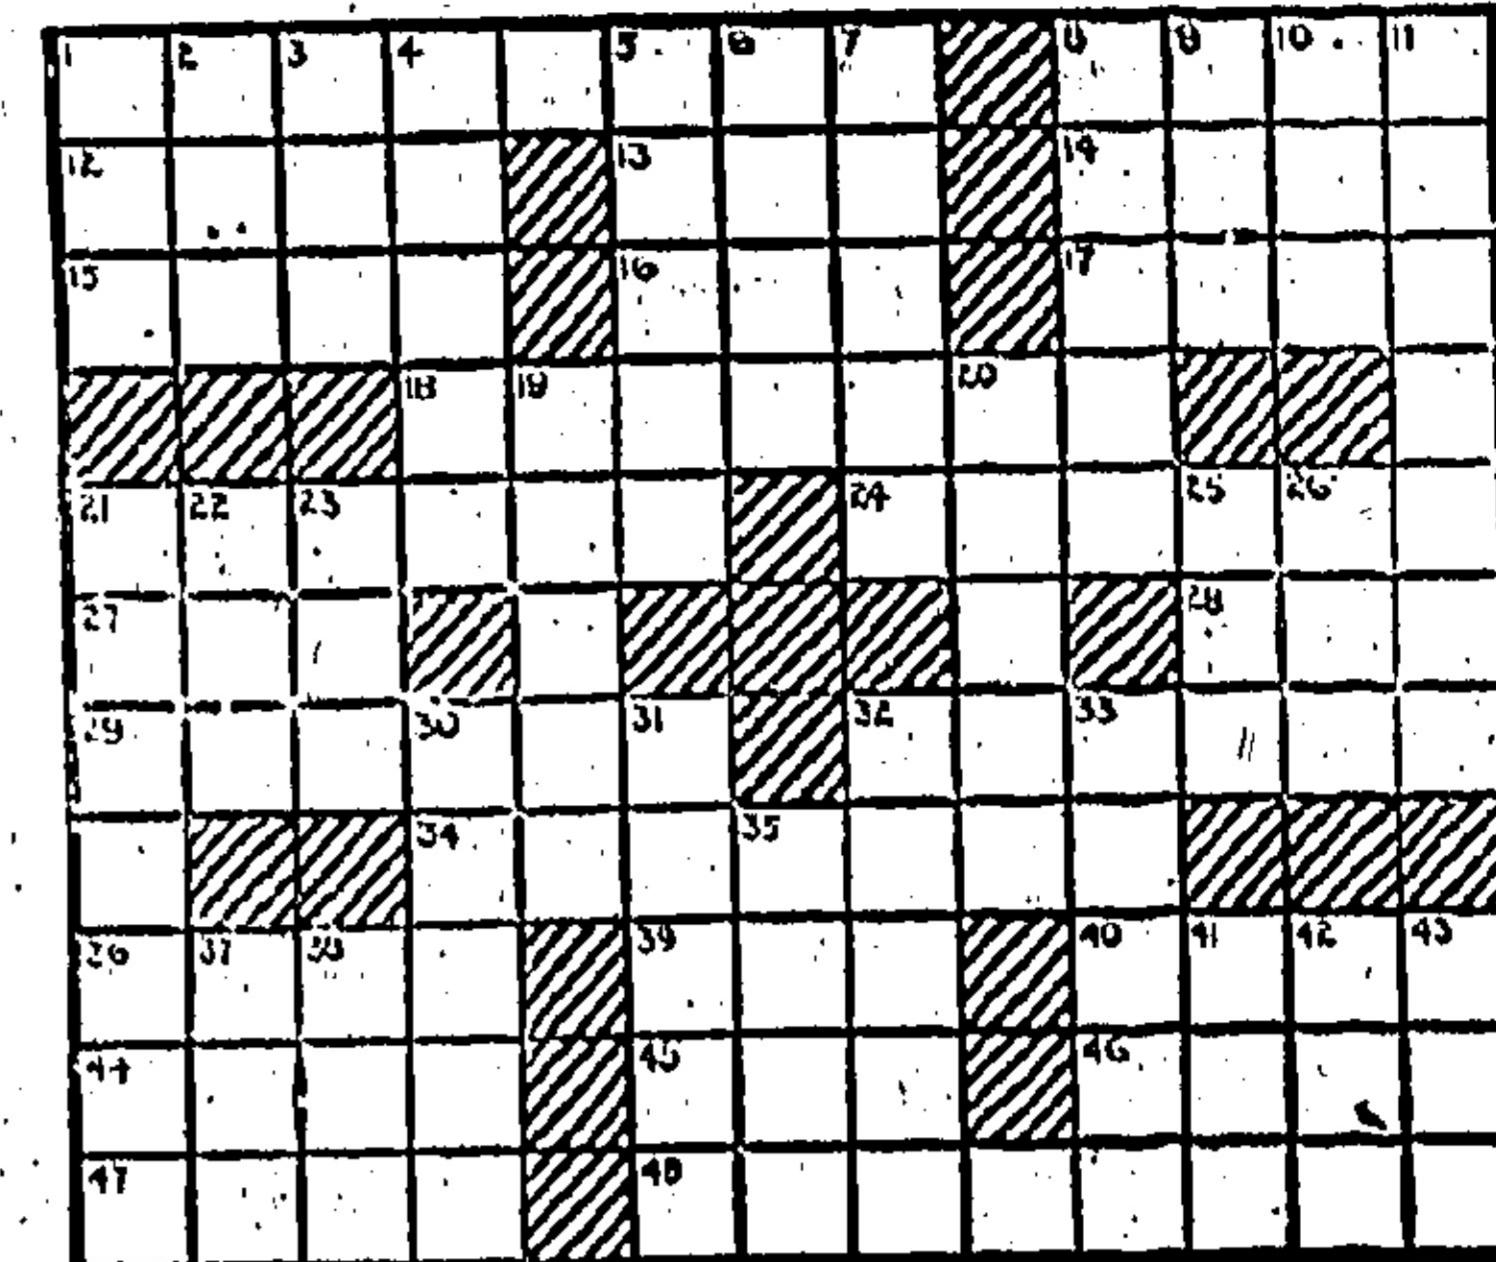

Little lace and lawn ruffles and collars and cuffs give charm to many morning and afternoon blouses and dresses. The "V" is much used as a neck-opening, shallow for day, deep at the back, for evening. It is also the form most in favour for incrustations. It gives slimness, and breaks heavy lines.

WAR CLOUDS.

League of Nations Covenant and Kellogg Pact notwithstanding, there would appear at the moment to be all the makings of a serious conflict in South America between the Republics of Bolivia and Paraguay. There has long persisted between these two countries a dispute regarding frontier rights, and matters have come to a head during the past week by clashes between the rival military forces, the immediate cause of the trouble apparently being a quarrel as to the ownership of the big tract of fertile country known as El Chaco. Like most of the South American Republics, both Bolivia and Paraguay have in times past known what warfare and revolution are. In 1864, Paraguay had a dispute with Brazil which resulted in a war lasting five years. In that sanguinary struggle, Brazil had the assistance of the Argentine and Uruguay, and the final upshot was the complete defeat of Paraguay, with enormous losses. About fifteen years later, Bolivia became entangled in a war with Chile, suffering defeat and losing one of her coastal provinces. There has, however, been no actual war between the two nations now at variance, although the frontier issue has long been a source of friction.

At the moment, we are not concerned with the question of laying the blame on either party for the regrettable occurrences which have marked the past few days. That is an issue which can well remain over until it is possible for the origin of the trouble to be impartially investigated. The outstanding fact is that here we have at each other's throats two nations which, as signatories to the League of Nations Covenant, have pledged themselves to refer any serious dispute to arbitration or enquiry and not to declare war until three months after the award has been promulgated. One of them, also, if not both, have subscribed to the principles of the Kellogg Pact renouncing war as an instrument of national policy. Of course, both would probably declare that the present clash does not betoken any departure from those principles, by the simple process of arguing that such operations as have taken place are merely in self-defence. And it is precisely on this point that critics of the Pact have feared its ineffectiveness in face of heated national feeling. Even the League of Nations would appear to be willing to consider the present outbreak as coming within the category of self-defence, for the Council's Note to the countries involved stresses the importance of carefully limiting "the self-defence measures" in such a manner that they should not be interpreted as aggressive. This attitude hardly appeals to us, for obviously one or the other must have been the aggressor, else actual fighting could never have broken out.

The point we have to keep in mind is that both Bolivia and Paraguay are members of the League and, as such, have solemnly sworn to submit to arbitration any dispute likely to lead to a rupture. This pledge, they have not respected. So far, actual war has not been declared. Had it been, the defaulting nation would have automatically been placed in a state of outlawry with all other States who are members of the League, which would subject the aggressor to the severance of all intercourse. Moreover, in such a case the Council of the League would be required to recommend to the member nations what effective force shall be used to deal with the situation. Therefore, if matters are not soon adjusted, the League of Nations may find itself faced with the biggest problem yet to come before it. The possibilities are full of gravity. Meanwhile, the lesson of what is happening in South America would appear to be that written pledges are of small avail unless backed up by the right spirit and sentiment of those who sign them.

China's Calendar.

The latest stop in the westernisation of China proposed by that very select body, the Central Headquarters of the Kuomintang Party, is the adoption of the Gregorian or solar calendar, a suggestion which can be classified among the wise movements begun in Nanking. While its use in the transaction of official business has become the vogue for many years, little progress has been made among the conservative multitude, and generally, the mixture of the two systems has given rise to much confusion. An elaborate programme has now been drawn up for the celebration of the foreign New Year's Day, the object being to encourage the observance of the solar calendar. The celebration is likely to prove an extremely popular measure, since it involves yet another general holiday, and an opportunity for mass demonstrations. The snag lies in the fact that Chinese New Year will undoubtedly be observed with all the ceremonies and general holidays of old, and the value of the earlier celebration will be negligible. It must puzzle a foreigner new to the East to discover upon what calendary basis, if we may put it that way, the Chinese do their work. For instance, the Double Tenth anniversary of the establishment of the Chinese Republic is not the tenth day of the tenth month as they might suppose, but the tenth of October. The Double Seventh, the Chinese Maiden's Day, when unwedded young ladies perform ancient rites in honour of the seven virgin sisters, is not July 7th, but the seventh day of the seventh moon which may fall any time between August and October. Such instances are too numerous to be mentioned, but two such illustrations will serve to indicate the chaos at present existing. The Central Kuomintang, however, is going the wrong way to work by merely ordering another holiday, which are already so many, that we wonder their significance is not entirely lost.

Remarkings that the Star Ferry Pier was the last place where hawkers should be allowed to cause obstructions, Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning fined a hawker $4, double the ordinary fine for obstructions.

A naval wireless message received to-day states that three leaders of the s.s. Shan piracy gang were tried and executed at Hankow on Saturday, this concluding the trial and punishment of the offenders.

THE CHRISTMAS BAZAAR.

[By W. Pett Ridge.]

The aspect of folk as they left after morning services made it clear that they had received what is technically called a "dressing down." None showed this more plainly than Ella and Milly and Barbara Crediton: from their looks you would have assumed the reproaches delivered by the minister had been aimed exclusively at them. At the door of the house in Graham Road where they occupied rooms, a letter fell from the box as they entered. Clearly it had rested there through the Saturday night.

"It's from Cousin Frank," announced Ella, "dated somewhere in Cambridgeshire. He is coming to town to-morrow, and he thinks of calling on us."

"That," said Barbara, "has undoubtedly put the lid on it!" Silence reigned once more.

Half-way through the mid-day meal, powers of speech returned. Milly remarked that whilst they had taken the charge of one stall at the Oriental Mart—to be held (in good time) on this next Monday of November—others were also concerned, and the brunt of the grim anticipations of failure offered from the pulpit together with satire on the lack of enthusiasm, had to be divided amongst all who had guaranteed to help. Milly argued that no means existed for compelling members of the public to buy the half-crown entrance tickets if members of the public resolved not to do so.

"The charge was fixed too high," argued Barbara. "Stand to reason that folk are not going to pay to come in when there is the certainty of being rooked—"

"Cousin Frank ought to purchase one," said Milly.

"Cousin Frank," remarked Ella, "will bring the scent of stables across the footlights."

"He is not likely to want to go to the affair."

"Unless," said the eldest sister, "he has greatly changed since he was a boy."

They did not discuss the matter further because, so soon as the table was cleared, blinds had to be partially drawn in order that a dress rehearsal might take place. The three brought out the Eastern costumes they had made, and tried them on, and walked about in them. The change from ordinary garb was so startling that more than once, in descending from the chair which allowed inspection in the mirror, the young women said, disturbedly:

"It makes us look so theatrical!" "Bare arms never did suit me." "Hope it won't be cold in the hall."

They were trying to believe that the dresses were not too adventurous when the bell rang. By gesture the three gave a warning that no notice was to be taken. A tap at the door of the room was followed by a shrill-voiced announcement from the little girl whose parents lived on the ground floor.

"A gentleman who says he's a relation."

Cousin Frank entered, amid a chorus of protest. Ella Crediton going forward, exclaimed:

"Why, you haven't grown a bit since I saw you last!"

The shortness of the visitor appeared to console the young women and, as he explained that the opportunity of making the journey in the governor's car had induced him to take the trip earlier than projected, they found coats and, with these on, regained traces of self-possession. The eldest offered excuses.

"I reckon," she declared, "that you all look uncommonly nice—especially you." He nodded to Barbara.

"I'm not used to fancy costume," she said, modestly.

They could scarcely refrain from showing cordiality when, on the difficulty in regard to the sale of tickets being mentioned, he laid a round note on the table and asked to be supplied with eight. This done, the vivacity of the young women became so pronounced that he had no need for words—and, in truth, he uttered few during tea and until the moment selected for his departure.

"Was going to ask you all to have a bit of lunch with me to-morrow," he said, "but if you're engaged that's scratched."

"A pity," they agreed, "but can't be helped."

"You still work at home, I suppose."

"Children's frocks mainly," answered Ella.

"Not much in my line," he said, gazing at his cap. "I'm what is called a bachelor."

"You never know your luck!" said Barbara, daringly.

He appeared to search for a reply to this, but want of success forced him to say "Well, goo-bye all," and with this he left. Alone, the young women took off coats with a sigh of relief, and discussed the incident. It was thought that Barbara's last remark savoured of forwardness. Milly blamed herself for not ascertaining by a direct inquiry if Cousin Frank intended to guess his weight.

A very pretty wedding is taking place at 4:30 p.m. to-day, at John's Cathedral, when Miss Margaret Else Bird, daughter of Lieutenant-Col. and Mrs. L. G. G. Bird, will be married to Lieutenant K. Wales Beard. The bride is to be given away by her father, Lieutenant C. G. Trencham is to be the "best man" and the bridesmaids will be Misses Rita Hazelton, Dorothea Bewley, Eileen Stublings and Eileen de Blere. A reception is later to be held at the Volunteer Headquarters.

The Creditons were "twofers" in regard to attendance at chapel, and that evening, before service, there came the opportunity to allude to the sale of tickets which had been effected. Someone else had disposed of three, and the glad news being conveyed to the minister, he, in his address, withdrew the censure uttered that morning. He now alluded to the members of his congregation as "faithful sheep."

All the same, the attendance on Monday afternoon, when Lady Thorpe made the formal opening, could not be reckoned good. The minister spoke of counter attractions, and Sir Walter Thorpe, in acknowledging a vote of thanks on behalf of his wife, regretted the lack of public spirit in the north of London. The party made a tour of the hall and went off, and stall-holders remained. In their Eastern garb they had an air of being excessively remote and lonely. All signs of eager anticipation vanished. The Crediton girls gazed at each other dolefully.

"Even Cousin Frank," said Barbara, "is going to keep away."

Barbara was so often right that she could be excused for making this error. Cheering was heard outside, and Cousin Frank hurried in as one escaping from attack. The entire male strength of the helpers ran to the doorway, but alarm proved unnecessary—all they had to do was to assist at the pay-box in taking half-crowns. Within ten minutes the hall was filled with men, who went up and down, searching excitedly. Near the Crediton stall Barbara and Cousin Frank were talking: her height overshadowed him.

"Here he is!" cried a voice. The crowd bore down in their direction. "Come on, one for Wednesday," and, "It's our last chance before the season finishes!"

The short spare youth came to the front of the stall. A table was brought, and he clambered on it. "Lads!" he said. Order was called for and obtained. "I'll make a bargain with you. You've all got money in your pockets. Each of you goes around and spends ten shillings on goods he fancies for the wife. After that I shall tell you something you may be interested to know concerning a horse for the Manchester meeting."

Two sisters only carry on the business now, the third is married and lives at New-market. Ella and Milly are able to choose and select their customers—human nature being what human nature is—more especially at a time when a big race is near in which Cousin Frank is on a favoured horse.

The Very Joke!

An undergraduate magazine, says the Daily Express, laments the fact that the very expression "a young man from Oxford" now embodies something of a sneer. That is not quite true, but as an effort of self-criticism and self-realisation it is welcome. Many a man has felt, on leaving Oxford to enter a business or a profession, that he is at a disadvantage with his non-University contemporaries. While they were busily launching themselves on a career he has been in a world singularly distant from the realities he will be coping with the remainder of his days. Employers find it hard to place him in the right job. On their side, as on his, there is too great a readiness to regard him as a misfit. The Universities ought to be the training ground for leaders in all spheres of national life. If they are not, it is because they only partly succeed in combining practicality with culture, ideals and the love of beauty and knowledge of the world and its affairs.

Several good stories are told of the late Sir Arthur Charnell, who died recently at the age of 90. When he was on the Bench he had a mordant humour which would often disconcert even witnesses.

I remember one man saying that he had been "wedded to truth since infancy." "How long have you been divorced?" asked Mr. Justice Charnell.

On another occasion he said:—"Counsel always seem to think that a Judge cannot understand anything unless you repeat it to him at least ten times. I can assure you that I nearly always understand, at the second or third repetition."

It was at the seaside, and Sandy had just stretched himself on the beach when Mac came up. "Will you come for a sail, Sandy?" he asked.

"No; I've just had a good dinner for five shillings, and I'm not takin' the risk."

'CAT' FOR AN ARMED ROBBER.FIVE YEARS IMPRISONMENT IN ADDITION.*CHINESE WOUNDED.

In sentencing Tse Lam-fuk, convicted of robbery to five years' hard labour and 20 strokes with the "cat," the Chief Justice (Sir Henry Gollan) at the Criminal Sessions today, told prisoner that it was an impudent robbery.

"I cannot prevent people taking part in robberies," said Sir Henry, "but when they are convicted I can make them realise that it is a very serious offence. As I have said on many occasions, when a robbed man is injured I shall always inflict flogging on his assailants."

The prisoner was found guilty by the jury of attacking a man named Ng Sang-hon, living at Kowloon Tong, while he was riding home in a ricksha in the early hours of November 12, and stealing various articles and $38 in money.

Ricksha Overturned.

According to the prosecution, Ng Sang-hon left a Yau-mati hotel at 1.15 a.m. on the morning of November 12 and engaged a ricksha to take him to Kowloon Tong. After having proceeded along Edward Road as far as the railway bridge, which spans the road, four men were observed.

After passing the ricksha, they turned round and pulled it down from the back, overturning it and throwing complainant out. Two of the men were armed with knives. The ricksha coolie ran away, was chased by one of the robbers but was not caught. The other three seized complainant and dragged him under a nearby lamp where he had a clear view of his assailants. He recognised the prisoner as one of the men who seized him by the throat. After searching Ng Sang-hon, the robbers ran away and he proceeded home on foot. When he reached the gate of his house he found that his trousers were wet with blood and on investigating, found a wound in his buttock and another on his back. For these he was treated by a doctor.

Wounded During Struggle.

Giving evidence, complainant said he could not remember how he got the wounds and his Lordship pointed out that it was nothing unusual for a man to receive such wounds during a struggle and not know it at the time.

Complainant reported the matter to the police and on the morning of the 13th, the prisoner was arrested in Shanghai Street, with the pipe and silk handkerchief in his possession, both of which were identified by the plaintiff as his property.

In giving evidence of an identification parade, at which the complainant picked the prisoner out, Mr. L. H. C. Culthrop, Assistant Superintendent of Police, Kowloon, stated that complainant pointed to prisoner. He could not swear whether the complainant actually touched the prisoner.

Rules Quite Clear.

His Lordship commented that the rules were perfectly clear, that to identify anybody a witness had to touch the person he was identifying. He commented that those rules should be observed more carefully.

On this point, the prisoner stated that complainant could see him when he was changing his clothes for the identification, but Inspector Fallon said that it was impossible, even if all the doors were open.

A police interpreter gave evidence that, when charged, the prisoner said "I have nothing to say."

Prisoner declined to give evidence on oath, but made a statement from the witness box claiming the pipe and handkerchief as his own. He claimed the pipe because of a certain mark on the stem, and the handkerchief because it was of a certain width, two spans of his fingers.

His Lordship summed up, and the jury retired for a few minutes after which a verdict of "Guilty" was recorded.

NAVAL MOVEMENTS.H.M.S. KENT GOES SOUTH TO-MORROW.

H.M.S. Kent, the flagship of the China Station, will sail from Hongkong for Sandakan to-morrow and will later visit Macassar, Sourabaya, Batavia, Labuan and Kudat before returning here.

The destroyers Somme and Seraph, which left Hongkong last week, have proceeded up the Yangtze from Shanghai.

H.M.S. Hermes has left Manila for Hongkong and is due here tomorrow afternoon. H.M.S. Bluebell is also due to reach here from Takao to-morrow.

It is expected that the transport Neuralia will reach Hongkong on Friday afternoon.

AFGHAN ROYALTY FLEES.ARMY REPORTED IN OPEN REVOLT.

New Delhi, Dec. 17. The rebels are attacking Kabul. Serious fighting is proceeding and there is considerable anxiety.

New Delhi, Later. It is reported from the frontier that King Amanullah and his Queen have taken refuge in the fort, the army having turned against them.

The rebels have captured two small forts, a number of rifles, and a quantity of ammunition in the vicinity of Kabul; while at Jalalabad the Shinwars and Khugians have ceased negotiations and taken the field, and have captured the outpost of Kajin, inflicting casualties on the regulars and irregulars.

There is considerable anxiety here with regard to the position at Kabul and safety of foreign representatives. A wireless message states the Legations are safe. The Turks and Russians are unpopular, as they are considered to be the promoters of the radical anticlerical and other reforms.—Reuter.

Absence of News.

London, Dec. 17.

The Afghan Legation in London has not received any news from Afghanistan. The Foreign Office also has not heard from Sir Francis Humphrys on the subject of the disturbances in Kabul.

A New Delhi message says the disturbances in Kabul and Jalalabad are apparently separate affair. No letters have been exchanged between Kabul and India for a month, but the telegraph is still working.—Reuter.

RECEPTION ON THE FULDA.MODERN MOTOR SHIP PLÉASÉS.

A reception was held on board the motor vessel Fulda, of the North German Lloyd Line, at Kowloon Wharf last evening, there being a large attendance of guests, among whom were Herr Jipperich, German Consul, Dr. Pfeifer, Mr. C. M. Manners, Mr. J. D. Lloyd and most of the German community in Hongkong.

Captain R. Arndt acted as host and dinner was served in the cabin saloon, the ship's orchestra providing music. Subsequent to dinner, dancing took place on the promenade deck, and the festivities, with all the accompaniment of crackers and carnival trimmings, continued until an early hour.

The decks, saloons and dining room were all gaily decorated and guests were invited to make a tour of inspection of the ship. The luxurious cabin, with the most modern fittings in the way of fans, electric lighters and heaters, and also the tasteful upholstery, elicited much praise.

In re-establishing the European vessel with such well-equipped vessels, the N. D. L. are making a bid for a share of the traffic which appears assured of success.

TROUSERS THRUST UPON HIM?THIEF'S EXCUSE IN CASE AT KOWLOON.

That a pair of trousers being dried outside No. 6, Station Street, Hungshun, were blown on to his shoulders whilst he was passing was the excuse advanced by a Chinese who was charged before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning.

It was given in evidence that the defendant was seen to put the pair of trousers under his coat. He was chased by a constable and arrested.

The defendant denied the charge and said that he was passing the complainant's house when a sudden gust of wind blew the trousers on to his shoulders. A woman raised the alarm and he was arrested.

His Worship: "Apparently some people steal trousers and others have trousers thrust upon them."

Sentence of seven days' hard labour was imposed.

FINE TO CLOUDY.

To-day's Observatory report states that the anticyclone is central near Nagasaki. Another has formed over North China. The Guam typhoon is stationary or filling up. Fresh monsoon may be expected along the south-east coast of China and over the China Sea. The forecast till noon tomorrow is:—N.E. winds, fresh; fine to cloudy.

HOTEL CAR DRIVER SPEEDING.MR. T. A. WEALL PROSECUTES AN OFFENDER.*COLLISION AVOIDED.

New Delhi, Dec. 17. A fine of $15 was imposed on a chauffeur employed by the Hongkong Hotel Garage, for reckless driving on Stubbs Road on December 1.

Mr. G. T. Weall, giving evidence for the prosecution, said he was driving up Stubbs Road in his car going at eighteen miles per hour.

"At the bend in the road immediately above Huntingdon, public car No. 41, a large seven seater Studebaker, with no passengers came down the road at thirty miles per hour," said Mr. Weall.

There were some coolies carrying furniture on the road at the time and car No. 41 swung to the wrong side of the road to pass the coolies, giving witness only about three feet of the road. Witness said he applied both hand and foot.

Executions were carried out in public until as late as 1897. In that year, the first private execution took place, within the Gaol precincts, the only persons present, besides the Gaol Superintendent and staff, being the Hon. Mr. (later Sir) Francis Henry May, Captain Superintendent of Police, and representatives of the Press.

The case was one in which two Chinese were hanged for murder of a Sikh constable.

brakes and pulled his car up dead to avoid an accident. Defendant managed to swerve sufficiently to avoid a collision.

Among other cases taken by Major C. Wilson this morning, was one in which the police prosecuted a Chinese for driving a motor cycle combination at thirty-seven miles per hour in Praya East on December 3. The offence was described as a bad one, as it occurred at 1.30 p.m. a time when Praya East was unusually crowded. A fine of $15 was imposed.

A third speedster, who drove at 30 miles per hour along Connaught Road and up Murray Road was fined a similar sum, the incident occurring at 6 p.m. on December 3. Sub-inspector Nicols of the traffic department gave chase and stopped the man.

ABSENT JURYMAN.HEAVY FINE IMPOSED.

Mr. Im Pak-hai, of C. E. Huygen, Pedder Building, was fined $60 by the Chief Justice (Sir Henry Gollan) at the Criminal Sessions this morning. Mr. Im's name was called for service on the jury but there was no answer.

A search was made but he could not be found, after which his Lordship announced that the missing juror would be fined $50 for non-attendance.

ANOTHER SETBACK FOR SOVIET.MASSES INSIST ON XMAS CELEBRATIONS.*ANTI-RELIGIOUS PIQUE.

Riga, Dec. 17.

The Soviet Government has received another decided setback in its efforts to break down ancient institutions in Russia, and the anti-religious organisations have had to report failure with regard to the Christmas festivities.

According to reliable information from Moscow, a conference of the anti-religious societies has decided to report to the Soviet that despite the steady flow of anti-religious propaganda in the schools, and homes, the masses insist on celebrating Christmas with Christmas trees and presents.

The Conference also decided to ask the Soviet to prevent the co-operative societies and other shops from distributing their "obnoxious" Christmas wares, which they are selling in thousands.

If something is not soon done in this connexion, the conference agreed, the efforts of the organisation to uproot old religious customs will be rendered futile.—Reuter.

"TENSILE" TIES last longer
"TENSILE" TIES retain their shape
"TENSILE" TIES are good to look at and good to wear.

It is a far cry from the heavy old-fashioned Stocks of early Victorian days to the shapely and slender open end tie of the present day.

The firm which to-day makes the "TENSILE" Tie also made the old-fashioned Stocks 55 years ago. Since that time they have ever led the way with the new developments in Tie construction.

In these days when the name is for the small tightly tied knot, the necktie must be able to withstand the hard wear it receives.

The "TENSILE" Tie is entirely made by hand. The "elasticity"—which is its chief merit—can only be satisfactorily produced by hand work.

The cutting must be exactly right—and the correct tension of the tie must be tested by the maker before the material and lining are sewn together.

The result is the ideal Tie which can be worn with any style of collar and which can be relied upon to give perfect service.

TENSILE TIES

Last longer than ordinary Ties, their different construction ensures it, and are made throughout by highly skilled workers. Both Silk and Lining are scientifically cut on the true bias. That is why TENSILE TIES RETAIN THEIR SHAPE.

HERMES WIN IN MANILA.

SUCCEED IN RUGBY AND HOCKEY.

Before a large crowd at the Nomads Field in Manila on the 12th inst., H.M.S. Hermes defeated the Nomads Club in a fast game of rugby football, the men from the naval vessel scoring 6 points to the local team's blank score.

Both teams played a fast game and brought the crowd to their toes repeatedly. The first half found the teams playing a great defensive game, no score being made during that period.

The first tally of the game came when five minutes after half time a clever punt ahead found several keen forwards backing up. Lieutenant John scrambled over to score the try.

The scoring by the Hermes team gave added fight to the Nomads who tried vainly to put over a score, but the visitors showed a robust and fast moving defence.

Towards the end of the game the Hermes team scored again. Lieutenant Commander Farrant being responsible for the try after some beautiful forward work, in which the ball was passed along the whole line.

Hockey Win.

In a fast and hard fought game on the following afternoon at the Nomads Field, the hockey team of H.M.S. Hermes downed the Nomads to the score of 4 goals to 0.

The game was featured by the scoring of the second goal. The ball was centred after a run down the left wing, and, although coming awkwardly and breast-high to the inside man, was swiftly balanced on his stick, and, without a moment's hesitation, flashed into the net.

Immediately afterwards came the third goal, which virtually settled the issue. A smart piece of opportunism was responsible for this tally, for the ball seemed safely at the mercy of the local defence when a Hermes forward swooped down and planted it home. The final score was made after the Nomads had narrowly missed opening their account.

TUNG SHAN CHAMPIONSHIP.

A very exciting game was witnessed on Sunday afternoon when J. C. H. Bonbright defeated J. T. Smith by 1 up in the semi-final of the Tung Shan Championship over 18 holes on the course of the Tung Shan Recreation Club in Canton. The pair had been going absolutely level all through the game and were still level at the 17th when J. C. H. Bonbright holed out in 3 to J. T. Smith's 4 at the 18th.

In the first round J. Rodger obtained a walk-over from H. G. McNair, who scratchetd; F. E. W. Lammert defeated A. J. Evans by 4 and 2; A. T. Lay defeated G. C. Kitching by 3 and 2; R. K. Batchelor defeated J. Walker by 5 up; J. T. Smith obtained a walk-over from B. B. Anthony, who scratchetd; C. E. Sandstrom—defeated; A. E. Quin by 5 and 4; W. M. Stratton defeated C. E. Watson by 3 and 2; J. C. H. Bonbright defeated M. A. Annett by 8 and 6.

In the second round, J. Rodger defeated F. E. W. Lammert by 8 and 6; A. T. Lay defeated R. K. Batchelor by 2 and 1; J. T. Smith defeated C. E. Sandstrom by 2 up; J. C. H. Bonbright defeated W. M. Stratton by 6 and 4.

The other semi-final, between J. Rodger and A. T. Lay, will be played off during the present week and the final will take place over 36 holes on Sunday next.—Our Own Correspondent.

TENNIS MATCH.

A tennis match on Sunday between the Sanitary Department and the Royal Air Force, on the C.S.C.C. ground, resulted in a victory for the Sanitary Department by 16 games, the scores being: Sanitary Department, 55; R.A.F., 43.

It is announced that the N.D.L. will shortly open a new line between Hongkong and New Guinea, to connect with the European service. A six week schedule will be maintained, the first vessel being the s.s. Bremerhaven, arriving in Hongkong at the end of January and sailing south in the early part of February.

GIANT RAG BY 1,000 UNDERGRADS.

REVOLT AGAINST STERNER RULES AT OXFORD.

Oxford, Nov. 21.

A midnight window-smashing raid at Clarendon-buildings by undergraduates in motor-cars, followed this morning by an elaborate bonfire which involved close on 10,000 students, the fire brigade and many police, has given the University authorities here one of the biggest disciplinary problems they have had for years.

Trouble began just before midnight, when four or five motor-cars filled with undergraduates pulled up in Broad-street, near Clarendon Buildings, which are the University headquarters.

The occupants of the cars jumped out, ran to the pavement, and threw bottles filled with whitening through the windows.

Before the "bulldogs"—proctors' police—could intervene the raiders dashed back to their cars and drove off.

Number Plates Hidden.

Eye-witnesses state that the number plates of the cars were covered and that during the raid, which about 20 students took part, head and side lamps were extinguished.

Twenty-seven panes of glass were smashed and considerable damage done to furniture and furnishings in the rooms. A valuable mahogany table was considerably damaged and a marble mantelpiece chipped.

The second episode in this drama, which was by way of protest against the numerous restrictions imposed recently on students, began this morning, when close upon 1,000 students gathered outside the Clarendon Buildings, armed with official notices summoning them to appear before the Proctor for an interview.

Apparently some one, by means yet unknown, was able to appropriate 500 of the official summons forms used by the Proctor, and these were sent to students at various colleges. They are stated to have been delivered by men dressed to look like "bulldogs."

Officials of the Proctor's office endeavoured to persuade the crowd of undergraduates besieging the building that there had been some mistake and denied all knowledge of the summonses.

For half an hour the crowd surrounded the building, stopping all traffic in Broad-street, and yelling "Down with the Proctors. Down with gown rule."

Police summoned to the spot dealt good-naturedly with the students, among whom "bulldogs" moved with paper and pencil taking down names.

At the height of the rag the Oxford fire brigade dashed up with a fire escape and tender, and firemen armed with extinguishers entered the building.

Their appearance was cheered by the students, and when they reappeared from the building and drove off there was a further outburst. The call was part of the hoax.

The fact that several non-professional members of the brigade lose pay every time they turn out to a fire apparently carried no weight with the undergraduates.

Proctor's Activity.

Both escapades are being treated with great secrecy by the University authorities both at the Proctor's office and at the Vice-Chancellor's residence.

It is known, however, that great activity prevails behind the scenes and that the authorities are determined to get to the bottom of the affair.

There is little doubt that the students' action is largely the result of the numerous restrictions imposed upon them recently, and particularly the revived rule that they must wear their gowns on almost all occasions.

The King has approved a recommendation of the Home Secretary that Mr. Charles Frederick Lowenthal, K.C., shall be appointed Recorder of Kingston-upon-Hull to succeed Mr. H. T. Kemp, K.C.,

LITIGATION ENDS.

DISPUTE OVER FISHERMAN'S ALLEGED DEBT.

The considerable litigation which arose consequent upon a debt which was alleged to be due from a Tai-poo fisherman to a Tai-poo fish shop has been finally settled. Mr. Justice Jacka yesterday delivering written judgment in which he found in favour of the fisherman with costs.

Originally the fisherman, Lee Wo-huen, brought a successful action for damages for wrongful imprisonment against Cheung Tai-kwai, Cheung Kang, the first named master of and the latter assistant at, the Wo Shing Hing Lung Fish Shop, Tai-poo, and Lai Shing, a detective at Tai-poo Police Station. He was then given judgment for $500 damages. It was in the course of trying to collect the alleged debt that the action for damages arose.

Following this the fish shop brought an action in the Summary Court for the recovery of the debt, claiming $588.17, being $351.60 the balance due in respect of loans, which debt was assigned to the plaintiffs, and $36.57 for money lent and goods sold and delivered.

Of this claim Lee Wo-huen admitted that he owed $36.57 which money he paid into court, but denied the remainder.

Mr. G. S. Hugh Jones was for the plaintiffs and Mr. A. el Arculli defended.

The Claim.

Giving judgment his Lordship said: The plaintiffs in this action claim the sum of $588.17 from the defendant being (1) as to $351.60 the balance due by the defendant in respect of loans made to him between the 14th day, 1st moon, Yut Chau year, and the 16th day, 11th moon, Ting Mau year, by the Wo Shing Hing Lung Hop Kee, of Ifan On Street, Tai-poo, which debt was assigned to the plaintiffs by the Wo Shing Hing Lung Hop Kee on the 16th day, 12th moon, Ting Mau year (8th January, 1928), (2) as to $36.57 the balance due by the defendant to the plaintiffs in respect of money lent and goods sold and delivered.

The defendant denies the first part of this claim but has admitted the second part and has paid $36.57 into Court.

The plaintiffs base their claim for $351.60 on an assignment dated the 16th day of the 12th moon, Ting Mau year, whereby some of the partners in the Wo Shing Hing Lung Hop Kee assigned the whole of their business, the amounts advanced to various ships both large and small, and book debts, signboards, the foundation fund of the Guilds, furniture inside and outside the shop, the whole concern in fact to Cheung Tai-kwai and Leung Chee-kei, who now carry on the business as the Wo Shing Hing Lung.

The Assignment.

This assignment was drawn up by the secretary of an institution which calls itself the Chamber of Commerce of Tai-poo. I do not know how this Society is constituted or what its local reputation is. Certain of its members appear to have taken the trouble to go through the books of the old firm and draw up a summary of debts and credits.

All this might give the transaction some weight amongst local traders but would not, of course, cure any legal defects.

The plaintiffs, as assignees, then proceeded to give notice of the transfer of the business to all the debtors of the firm of whom the defendant is alleged to be one. The plaintiffs have put in the books of the old firm as evidence of their claim.

The defence is, firstly, that the assignment of the business to the plaintiff is not valid as all the partners in the old firm did not join in it to assign their interests. Secondly, that he, the defendant, received no notice of the assignment. Thirdly, that he did not owe any money to the old firm.

Partnership Question.

With regard to the first point, Tsang Tsap-wo, who was one of the managers of the vendor firm, admitted there were eight partners. Only four were described in the assignment as "Makers of this document for the transfer of the whole concern of the business." There is no evidence that the other four partners concurred, in fact one had given evidence to the effect that he knew nothing about it until four or five months after.

Section five of the Partnership Ordinance, No. 1 of 1897, provides that "Every partner is an agent of the firm and his other partners for the purpose of the business of the partnership; and the acts of every partner who does any act for carrying on in the usual way business of the kind carried on by the firm of which he is a member, bind the firm and his partners, unless the partner so acting has, in fact, no authority to act for the firm in the particular matter and the person with whom he is dealing.

On the Prairies of Canada Baby's Own Tablets are A Household Remedy.

This Mother Says She Has Found Them Wonderful For Children's Troubles.

You do not have to coax and threaten to get the little ones to take Baby's Own Tablets. The case with which they are given as compared with liquid medicines, will appeal to every mother. None is spilled or wasted; you know just how big a dose has reached the little stomach.

As a remedy for the ills of childhood arising from derangements of the stomach and bowels they are most satisfactory.

Mrs. Rose Voyer, Willimantic, Conn., says:—"I used Baby's Own Tablets in the Canadian Northwest and found them a wonderful medicine for children's troubles, especially indigestion and constipation. I have also given them to my children for simple fever and the restlessness accompanying teething and they always gave relief. I can recommend Baby's Own Tablets to all mothers."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 60 cents a vial, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60, Kiang-ke Road, Shanghai.

LITIGATION ENDS.

ing either knows that he has no authority or does not know or believe him to be a partner."

The powers of a partner in the ordinary business dealings of a firm vary according to the nature of that business. In some kinds of business, the powers are very much wider than in others, in some cases extending to the sale or mortgaging of the firm's property; but I can find no authority for laying down that any partner or partners have any power express or implied for disposing of the whole business of the partnership, lock stock and barrel, without the consent of the other partners.

Transfer Not Good.

There being no evidence before me that all the partners in the Wo Shing Hing Lung Hop Kee concurred in the transfer of the business to the plaintiff I am unable to hold that the transfer of the business is a good transfer.

I now come to the second point, the notice to the debtors of the firm of the transfer of the business. The plaintiffs have called a messenger who stated that he delivered a notice to the defendant personally in the market. This the defendant denies. I see no more reason for believing the one rather than the other so that I cannot rule that the plaintiffs have proved this point.

Lastly the plaintiffs, in support of their claim, merely produce the books of the old firm unsupported by any evidence as to when the entries were made, who made them and why they were made. Books are merely ex parte statements; they are useful to refresh the memory of a witness who is giving evidence as to their contents when they have been kept in the ordinary way of business; but mistakes are liable to creep into the books, omissions often occur in them and as I have said already they are ex parte statements made by one party or his servants. The defendant in this case says "I do not know or care what the plaintiffs have put in their books. I have never concurred in them and I do not owe the plaintiffs anything." In the face of a denial of this kind I cannot uphold the books put in by the plaintiffs unsupported by evidence of any kind by the clerks or accountants who made the entries.

Judgment for Defendant.

It is true, as Mr. Hugh Jones said, that books are often put in support of a claim, but even in cases where the defendant does not defend I am averse to giving judgment for the plaintiff on the books only. My practice has always been to call for some evidence of acknowledgment of indebtedness or receipt of the goods by a defendant and my experience has been that this has almost invariably been forthcoming.

On the evidence I do not consider that the plaintiffs are entitled to succeed on their claim for $351.60. I give judgment for the defendant with costs.

American Express Travelers' Cheques

Definition of TRAVELLERS' CHEQUES

"The system of Travellers' Cheques was originated in 1891 by the American Express Company with the object of creating a form of travel currency which would give the holder the security of a letter of credit and at the same time the convenience of local currency. The Company registered the cheques under the trade name of 'AMERICAN EXPRESS TRAVELLERS' CHEQUES'. The world 'Travellers' being spelled with one 'L'. The advantage of the Cheques was so apparent that other banking institutions adopted the system."

BAZAAR RESULTS.

SUCCESS OF DIOCESAN GIRLS' SCHOOL EFFORT.

The Headmistress of the Diocesan Girls' School wishes to thank on behalf of herself, the staff and the pupils all those parents and friends and business firms who so generously supported the school bazaar and helped to make it successful, and the parents who entirely provided for the tea. Mr. Mow Fung of Der A. Wing Co.; The Sun Co.; Wing On Co.; Sincere Co.; The Hongkong Fish Store; Lane, Crawfords; Nestles Mills Co.; Bluebird Co.; Kowloon Confectionery; On Lok Yuen; Kayamulky; Bombay Silk Store; Pioneer Silk Store; Elite Styles; Loxley & Co.; Colonial Dispensary; Hung Cheong; The Dairy Farm; Cafe Pavilion; Whampoa Dock.

Friends of the school will be interested to learn that the following amounts have been received:—Class I, Stationery etc., $83.65; Class II, Flowers and edibles, $138; Class III, Miscellaneous, $221.36; Class IV, Dolls, $88; Class V, Teas, $84.70; Class VI, Shooting Competitions, etc., $65.70; Class VII, Remove, Chinese goods, $76.20; Class VIII, Toys, Brantub, $122.95; School Work Stall, $822; Guides, $91.56; Toffee (Miss McGill), $25; Received later, $26.

This makes a total of $1,331.30.

The Guides have very generously given the school $41.50 out of the $91.50 which they earned for themselves and the Headmistress would thank them as well as the Brownies who made very acceptable gifts to more than one stall.

By the votes of the School girls it has been decided that of the above sum the following donations should be made to local charities:

THE TREATIES.

SINO-BRITISH AGREEMENT REPORTED.

Nanking, Dec. 17.

Sino-British negotiations are progressing. The tariff treaty is being drafted, and it is expected Sir Miles Lampson and Dr. Wang but one more conference before the document will be ready for signature.

Official circles are reticent, but it is understood Britain has not demanded conventional tariffs. It is reported that Britain does not object to the enforcement of his new tariff schedule.

Sir Miles Lampson was the guest of Madame Chiang Kai-shek at tiffin to-day, at which Marshal Chiang Kai-shek and Dr. C. T. Wang were present.

No fewer than five treaties are at present being negotiated at Nanking, all of which are expected to reach signature this week.

THREE BIG ARMAMENT FIRMS TO UNITE.

London, Dec. 17.

The Manchester Guardian says that Vickers, Limited, Vickers-Armstrongs, Limited, and Cammell-Laird and Company have agreed to unite their armament businesses. This arrangement has led to the formation of an English steel corporation.

The Guardian says the agreement means that the three great armament firms, which, after the war, have not had sufficient business to keep them fully employed, will now cease to compete with each other in assigned departments.—Reuter.

ART STUDENTS.

AWARDS IN THE UNIVERSITY CLUB EXHIBITION.

What has been an exquisite exhibition of photographic prints was concluded at the Hongkong University yesterday, when the awards made by the judges were announced and the prizes distributed by Mr. W. W. Hornell, Vice-Chancellor.

The Awards.
The awards were as follow:
Advanced Section.—Best picture of the Competition ("The Sentinels"), Mr. P. Dragon (Awarded Gold Medal).
Pictorial Group—"Water—the poetry of nature" (Dr. M. B. Osman); "Even Song" (Mr. A. A. Rumjahn); "A Moonlit Scene" (Mr. Kho Keng-tay); "Out for a swim" (Mr. Tan Wee-han); "Chancery Lane" (Mr. A. A. Rumjahn); "dull day" (Mr. Kho Keng-tay); "Portraiture—"Isabelle" (Mr. P. Dragon).

The above seven were awarded medals.

The following received honourable mention—"Winter Noon" (Dr. Li Sung); "Nymph" (Dr. Li Sung); "Lamp Cleaner" (Dr. Li Sung); "Tranquillity" (Mr. Alfred Lock); "Sunrise in Macao" (Mr. Chan Wai-hai); "Roofs" (Mr. Poon Lien-cham); "Design" (Mr. J. Kotewall); "Beach Curves" (Mr. J. Kotewall); "Morning Haze" (Mr. Kho Keng-wah); "Neath Summer Skies" (Mr. Kho Keng-wah); "Bridge of Sighs" (Dr. M. B. Osman); "Homeward" (Dr. M. B. Osman); "The Vigil" (Mr. P. Dragon); "On the shores of Aberdeen" (Mr. P. Dragon); "The Alloy" (Mr. P. Dragon); "Acting sentinel" (Mr. A. A. Rumjahn); "In quest of?" (Mr. Kho Keng-tay); "Spring time" (Mr. K. A. Ng); and "The Ebbing Tide" (Mr. Tan Wee-han).

In conclusion Dr. Osman thanked the prize donors; Mr. Yung and Mr. Dragon for their assistance; the Press for publicity; and the judges, Mr. Hornell, Mr. Scamda and Mr. C. Schreter.

After presenting the medals, Mr. Hornell said that the exhibition had been an admirable effort, and congratulated the members of the Society on the excellent display of pictures. Most of them showed there was real appreciation of the beauties of this wonderful island. Hongkong was a really beautiful place. He had often wondered how much we owed for living in such a place.

Speaking of the offer of Dr. Herklots, the Vice-Chancellor said that the doctor was a young man of tremendous enthusiasm. The pictures for which he was presenting medals would help him as well as the art students.

to the resolution that will be put before you later for a continuation of extra $2 subscription for another two years. By then, if the Banks are compliant, it may be possible to see our way to the construction of a new and suitable building; but we do suggest that facilities for playing Golf should always be put in the first place, and that the master of the Club house should be subordinate to improvements to the Course.

Question of "Pro".

Before moving the adoption of the report and accounts, the Committee wished me to bring to the notice of members in general the presence in the Colony of a professional of very high reputation and qualifications. Mr. Smith is here only for the winter months, and his experience will constitute a valuable guide to future Committees in considering the difficult question of engaging our own "Pro". We all want to engage one but have hitherto had no means of knowing what the enterprise would mean to the Club financially. Mr. Smith's presence gives us a fortunate opportunity, the support accorded to him by members will go far towards making possible a decision on the advisability of taking action. Mr. Smith is to be found through the offices of the Club, and has been given all facilities on the courses. The current Committee has agreed that a member playing with him on Sundays and holidays will be given a starting time in the usual way, but of course the whole responsibility for expenditure in the Club houses must be borne by the introducing member in each case.

The Chairman concluded by proposing the adoption of the report and accounts. The motion was seconded by Mr. E. Davidson and carried unanimously. It was decided on the proposition of the chairman, seconded by Mr. E. Davidson, to continue the additional subscription of $2 for two years to all resident playing members, provided that any member may elect to pay green fees for $1 per day when he plays at Fanling instead of such additional subscription.

The New Captain.

The Chairman proposed Mr. L. S. Greenhill as the Captain of the Club for the ensuing year. Mr. Greenhill had been a member of the Club for a good many years and had done much useful work as a member of the Committee.

Mr. J. W. Franka, in seconding, said that Mr. Greenhill knew as much as, if not more about the Club than anyone else.

The resolution was carried with aplause, and Mr. Greenhill, in reply, expressed thanks and the hope that this time next year he would have the pleasure of giving a good report as Mr. Halifax had given that day.

Messrs. Percy Smith, Seth and Fleming were reappointed auditors.

General Committee.

The General Committee was elected as under: Messrs. L. R. Andrews, E. Davidson, H. U. Ireland, J. D. Kinnaid, K. S. Morrison, C. L. Sanderson, H. G. Sheldon, N. L. Smith and G. E. Towns.

Thanks to the Chairman, the Committee and to Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Co. for the use of their Board Room for the meeting, concluded the meeting.

KEEN OPPOSITION TO TEA MARK.

ENGLISH GROWERS IN DUTCH COLONY.

A BUYER'S OPINION.

London, Dec. 17.
The inquiry at the Board of Trade concerning the application for an order requiring a mark of origin on imported tea was resumed to-day one of the first witnesses called being Mr. Charles Morrell, representing the British Chamber of Commerce in the Dutch East Indies.

Mr. Morrell said he believed that a marking order would adversely affect the British export trade to the Dutch East Indies.

Mr. Eric MacFadyen, the chairman of the tea section of the same organisation, said that some of the British firms had expanded their business from Ceylon and India to the Dutch East Indies because tea planting territory could be purchased in Sumatra at 14/- per acre, as against from £15 to £20 per acre in Ceylon.

Mr. MacFadyen considered that the standard of East Indian tea had considerably risen in recent years. The marking of tea containers entering Britain would restrict investments in tea produce in the East Indies.

Opposition to the marking proposal was also voiced by Joseph Travers and Company.

One of Messrs. Lyons' representatives expressed the opinion that it would create chaos in Great Britain, while their tea buyer, Mr. H. C. Barton said that Java tea grown by Dutchmen was very different from that grown by English firms in the same country. Dutchmen, he said, do not understand tea, and with one exception, produced a lower grade.—Reuter.

THE CHONGS AND THE WONGS.

STREET FIGHT LEADS TO SENTENCES.

About a week ago, the Chongs and the Wonga, two clan factions in the Tung Tak Coolies' Union, were in deadly conflict over the allocation of certain lucrative jobs. In a fight which occurred on December 10 on the waterfront, a number of them were injured; the police, who intervened, making four arrests and sending to hospital a number of the injured.

At the Police Court hearing to-day, it was stated that the fight was the direct outcome of the Wonga having obtained some business which the Chongs had previously enjoyed.

In spite of their having been severely injured, fines amounting to $20 in each case were inflicted on two of the arrested men by virtue of their responsibility in the matter as foremen of the coolies.

Two other defendants were each fined $5, while all the four were ordered to sign a personal bond of $100 to keep the peace for six months.

DEAD SEA SALTS.

BRITAIN DOES NOT RECOGNISE CONCESSION.

London, Dec. 17.

In the House of Commons today, Mr. L. M. S. Amery was asked about the nature of the claim regarding the Dead Sea salt concessions made by a foreign Power on behalf of its nationals.

He replied that before the war, the Turkish Government were alleged to have granted to certain Ottoman subjects a concession for the extraction of certain substances from the waters of the Dead Sea. From time to time the British Government had been requested to recognise this concession, the most recent request being from a French Company who were understood to have acquired an interest in it at a comparatively recent date.

The British Government were advised that they were under no legal obligation to recognise the Turkish concession and had repeatedly declined to do so.—British Wireless.

MEDICAL WOMEN IN TROPICS.

HONGKONG PROVIDES OPPORTUNITIES.

BIG FIELD FOR CHILD WELFARE WORK.

INTERESTING VIEWS.

In an address delivered at the opening of the session at the London (Royal Free Hospital) School of Medicine for Women recently, Dr. Andrew Balfour, C.B., C.M.G., Director of the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, dealt with the possibilities for medical women in the tropical field. He outlined the position in various parts of the Empire, in which connexion he devoted some of his remarks to Hongkong.

In his first reference to Hongkong, Dr. Balfour spoke of its past history of gross overcrowding and its attendant evils, and continued:—"No wonder plague and cerebro-spinal fever have here from time to time found happy hunting grounds! No wonder tuberculosis claims many victims! No wonder leprosy is rife. Yet a great deal has been done and is being done to improve conditions and to safeguard health, though malaria constitutes a serious problem. As ever in the East, maternity and child welfare takes and, together with the medical care of school children, indicates that in Hongkong there is need, if not room, for the medical woman.

Burden of Disease.

"Much of China is in the tropics and everywhere there is a great burden of disease: surgical conditions calling for remedy, worm infestations of all sorts and notably schistosomiasis japonicum, clonorchis infections, lung fluke troubles and filariasis. In addition to the more common tropical maladies kala-azar exists in certain districts while two species of local hamster have been found susceptible to inoculation with Leishmania donovani. China indeed is a mine of pathological wealth and has, as you know, been a great centre of medical missionary enterprise, and a place where many women doctors have found a vocation. It is now under a cloud and no one can envisage its future, so that we need scarcely dwell upon it."

Hongkong Opportunities.

Later in his address, Dr. Balfour said:—"Of Hongkong, Mrs. Minett, who is my chief informant, has not much to say. A woman holds a Government appointment as school medical officer and there is a medical woman with an assistant in charge of native maternity hospitals. No infant or child welfare work has yet been organized, though there is a huge field. Private practice could be built up and would in time be lucrative, but the language is a difficulty and there will be increasing competition from Chinese women who are qualifying in medicine.

"Single-handed women's practices have been tried and abandoned several times. A firm of women," says Mrs. Minett, "with capital enough to wait and to enable them to spend six months in learning the very difficult language, might do extremely well." Pioneers are needed who can afford to do voluntary work, and there is scope for ambulance training and general health training among the Chinese."

A Hopeful Sign.

In conclusion, Dr. Balfour said:—"Perhaps the most hopeful sign of the times, from your standpoint, is the increased employment of medical women in laboratory work and research. After the war, men did not seem to be so ready to go to the tropics as formerly, and for a time it looked as if women would have to step into the breach and save the situation. This is no longer the case, but undoubtedly the opportunities for women are multiplying. Women are, they must be, to some extent, arbiters of their own fate in this matter. If they maintain the satisfactory standard already set by those who have made good, if they prove adaptable, and not unduly contentious, and if they bear in mind the wise and humane advice of Sir William Oster, there is every likelihood that, as the years pass, the number of medical women in the tropics will show considerable augmentation, and that new spheres of activity will open before them."

SMALL-POX ON THE INCREASE.

NEW RECORD TOTAL DURING LAST WEEK.

NEARLY 300 TO DATE.

Latest returns show that smallpox continues on a serious scale, the figures for the past week being the highest so far recorded for any week since the outbreak began in the latter part of October.

Last week, there were no fewer than 91 cases, with 29 deaths. Of these, 69 were from Kowloon and all the others from Victoria districts, excepting one from Aberdeen. All were Chinese.

On Sunday, a further eight cases were notified, whilst yesterday the total was again increased by 22 cases.

These figures now bring the total up to 291.

The details of the case reported for the weeks ending on dates given are:

	Cases	Deaths
November 3	6	0
November 10	22	6
November 17	31	9
November 24	17	8
December 1	33	25

RIVER VESSEL LOSES PROPELLOR.

YUET ON'S MISHAP NEAR PAKKAL.

It was learned on the arrival of the s.s. Yuet On last night from Kongmoon, that an hour out of Pakkal, a serious mechanical defect developed, with the result that the starboard tail shaft and propeller were lost. The ship was obliged to make the rest of the way down on one engine.

Dock specialists were called in this morning, and it is announced that the vessel will proceed to Tai Kok at 2 p.m. to-day for repairs which, it is understood, will take some time.

The s.s. Saiping was taken in hand at the Kwong Tak Cheung shipyard this morning for annual overhaul and refit.

With the San Nam Ho also in dock and the s.s. On Lee on the alternate night run, there will, therefore, be only one vessel sailing for Kongmoon this evening, the s.s. Tai Lee, already well booked for both passengers and cargo.

MANILA SCANDALS.

WOMAN LAWYER GETS SIX YEARS.

Manila, Dec. 14.
Estela Romualdez and Luis Malaunay, who were convicted yesterday by Judge Euilogo P. Revilla, of the Manila Court of First Instance of the crime of falsification of public documents in connexion with the 1926 bar scandals, will appeal to the Supreme Court.

Miss Romualdez was sentenced to six years and one day imprisonment and to pay a fine of Pesos 200 for falsifying public documents as a public officer, together with the accessory penalty of perpetual disqualification from holding public office.

Mabunny was given four months and one day imprisonment with the accessories of the law a fine of Pesos 50, as accomplice.

Both furnished the appeal bond of Pesos 7,000 and Pesos 1,000, respectively, for their temporary liberty pending the appeal.
